1. The Tax Task Force will examine all State taxes in New South Wales, other than those aspects of stamp duties which were previously examined in the Valentine/Wallace report.
2. Particular reference should be made to the impact of these taxes on the economic development of New South Wales through their effect on business.
3. The Task Force should make recommendations as to how the efficiency, equity and simplicity of the State's tax base could be improved through changes to the design, mix and administration of taxes. It should comment on the existing balance between stamp duties and other taxes.
4. The recommendations must be revenue neutral.
5. The Tax Task Force will submit its final report to the Treasurer by 22 August 1988.
